ANNOUNCEMENTS

See the shoe specials Frank A. Bill offers today (Saturday). Ladies' $1.75 shoes at $1.50; Ladies' $2.50 shoes and Oxfords $2. Big values in men's shoes and Oxfords.

Exceptionally Strong Bill at the Auditorium.

The programme at the Auditorium for the three days beginning June 6th contains two head-line acts that have been featured throughout the entire Keith and Proctor and Poli circuits. Will H. Stevens & Co., presenting "Uncle in Wrong" will surely prove a howling success, as the sketch itself is a farce comedy that is a scream, and the players are all clever performers. Have you ever read a copy of Puck? Well, it's a safe bet that you have laughed at some of Galloway's funny grawings. Galloway himself will demonstrate how a comic artist produces hig ideas. Don't miss this. Musical Dale, whose artistic handling of belis and chimes places him in a class by himself, will test your musical ear. If he does not make one of the sason's musical hits it will be because his hearers are all stone deaf and can't tell the difference between a jewsharp and a brass band. Kliste & Lewis will handle the singing end of the show, and they can sing. Come and hear for yourself. The plotures are not the ordinary, commonplace subjects seen elsewhere, but new, snappy ideas, full of life and action, as are only the real Independent films.

BREED THEATER.

BREED THEATER.

BREED THEATER.

The Mistaken Bandit, Thrilling Cowbey Picture.

A thoroughly wild western pleture that is attracting a great deal of attention at the Breed theater will be shown at the Breed theater will be shown at the performances today for the last time here. It is a superbly amusing and thrilling cowboy story, entitled The Mistaken Bandit, and tells of a storeleeper in a little western town being obliged to leave the little shop in the care of his daughter, while he goes for a doctor for his sick wife. He gives the girl sufficient shooting irons to meet most any enemy, knowing that a noted eutlaw is in the vicinity. He has scarcely left when a cew puncher arrives, and the girl, thinking him the outlaw, covers him with her revolvers and puts him in an adjoining room. She no sconer closes the door than she hears the real outlaw rapping at the door of the store, and, realizing her error, she calls the cow puncher to her assistance, who compals her to leave the room, and he fight the robber to a finish, the girl's father arriving in time to see the exciting finish. The heroine is won by the fearleesness of the cow puncher, and falls a willing victim to his ardent attentions. Another excellent western feature is The Bad Man and the Preacher, and is a truthful pleture of the many little incidents of its kind which have occurred in the wild and weolly west. Mr. J. H. Lord makes a big hit with the beautiful song, When the Daisles Bloom.

Animals Cannot Reason. Animals do not reason. If any one truth has come out of all the critical study of the animal mind that has been going on since this century came in, this is it. Animals do not reason; they never have reasoned; they never by any possibility can reason. The wisest of them do, indeed, get into the borderland that separates reasoning from other mental processes; but no living creature, except man, ever gets unequivocally across the line.— E. T. Her Pasts.

They were talking in low tones of the hostess. "She has a very gracious presence," said one. "It's a pity she isn't married to a man with money, so that she could entertain more ele gantly. She seems to be used to entertaining." "She is," another ex-plained. "Several of her former husbands were men of brains and some means, they tell me."

Modern Warfare.

The battle of Fornova, fought July 6, 1495, between the French and the Milanese, whose territory they were invading, was the very last of the characteristic Middle Age battles. From that time the infantry gained the pre-eminence over the cavalry, and cannon were employed in preference to all other projectile weapons.

Are You Interested

In seeing the cities of Nor-wich and Hartford connected by a trolley line? Assuming that you are, the following facts are submitted to you for your consideration:

a. Over $300,000 of the 6 per cent. Cumulative Preferred Stock of the Norwich, Colches-ter & Hartford Traction Co. have already been subscribed.

b. By the building of this trolley line more than 170,000 people would be served. Out-side of the terminal cities of Norwich and Hartford, the road Norwich and Hartiord, the road would pass through the villages of Yantic, Fitchville, Bozrah, Colchester, North Westchester, Mariboro, Buck's Corners, Nip-sic, East Glastonbury, Addison Hilltown and East Hartford.

c. The average population per mile would be over 4,200, which would form a fair basis upon which to figure passenger carnings. The freight and ex-press shipments must of necessity be large owing to the active business and manufacturing centers through which the trolwould pass.

Comparing the benefits Norwich has received in the past, as a result of trolley extension, are you not in hearty sympathy with this effort to add another road to the list and to place our city within 14 hours of the capitol city of the state?

e. Subscriptions to $100,000 of this stock, the balance of the authorized issue, are now solicited in large or small amounts, and your co-operation in this proposition is asked for.

f. Full descriptive circular will be mailed to you, or additional information given upon application to

POETRY.

TEMPTED.

Just to see the dawning of another country day,
Just to see the flint again on meadow grass and clover;
Just to see the morning sun kiss all the dew away
And spread in golden patches all the amiling country over,

Just to tread the bank again where regular waters pass,
Just to hear their musto like a friendly fiddle playing;

Just to be the target for a kill-deer's noisy "sass"
That nests among the branches of the leafy summen swaying.

Just to stretch my length again beside the fishing hole.
Somewhere in the silence where the stream has ceased its prattling;
Just to feel the thrill again along an alder pole
And to meet the test of patience in the simple knack of waiting.

Just to go and to be a part of what I used to know.

Just to tune my heart again with summer's drowey humming—
This alone would tempt me to forget my task and go
When vagrant breezes whispes through my open window: "Coming?"

John D. Wells, in the Buffale News.

OLD-FASHIONED ROSES. Th' ain't no style about 'em.
And they're sort o' pale and faded,
Yit the doorway here, without 'em,
Would be lonesomer, and shaded
With a good deal blacker shader
Than the morning-glories makes.
And the sunshine would look sadder
For their good, old-fashion sakes.

I like 'em 'cause they kind e'
Sort e' make a feller like 'ems!
And I tell you, when I find a Bunch out whur the sun kin strike
feen,
It allus sets me thinkin'
O' the ones 'at used to grow
An' peak in thro' the chinkin'
O' the cabin, don't you know!

And then I think o' mother
And how she ust to love 'em—
When they wuxn't any other,
'Leas she found'em up abeve 'em!
And her eyes, afore she shut 'em.
Whispered with a smile and said,
We must pick a bunch and put 'em
In her hand when she wus dead.

But, as I wus a-sayin',
They sin't no style about 'em,
Very gaudy or displayin',
But I wouldn't be without 'am—
'Cause I'm happier in these posies,
And the hellyhawks and sich,
Than the hummir-bird at noses
In the roses of the rich.
—James Whitzem's Effey.
